BRAND BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT

Property Owners South of Fifth Street Protest—Legal Points Brought Out at Special Meeting of Trustees

In accordance with notice given, the city trustees assembled at 2 p. m., Wednesday, to hear arguments on the protest of certain property owners on Brand boulevard who object to the assessment as made by the street superintendent for the improvements made on that thoroughfare, by which the right of way belonging to the Interurban railway is exempt and the full burden of paying for the street improvement is imposed upon the property owners on the two sides of the street. A report by the street superintendent was read explaining his action, showing that in accordance with the advice of the city attorney, he had not figured in the railroad property, but inasmuch as that corporation had voluntarily paid for the inside curbs, a proportionate credit had been allowed on each property owners' account. The city was represented by City Attorney Metcalf, ably assisted by the contractor's attorney, Mr. Sherer, of Los Angeles, who made the principal argument on that side. The protestants were represented by Frederick Baker, Esq., former city attorney, who made a very reasonable argument in support of the contentions advanced by the protestants. Mr. Baker claimed that the easement, or right of the railroad company to run cars over its right of way, by which it gained the right to be regarded as a quasi public institution which could not be interfered with by any process which would prevent its performing the duties of a public carrier, was a thing distinct from its title in fee simple to the property, and while it was admitted that this easement could not be sold to enforce a claim which a contractor or other creditor might hold—the same exemption does not apply to the title to the property.

In support of this position he argued that the railroad right of way is altogether the property of the railroad company to be used by it for any purpose whatever. It was developed, however, in the course of the argument that the deed given the railway company by Mr. L. C. Brand does contain certain conditions, which we believe are to the effect that the property reverts to Mr. Brand if it should cease to be used for railroad purposes. Mr. Baker admitted that the transfer of the fee simple by such a sale (to enforce a contractor's claim, would be a practicable impossibility, but claimed that as a matter of fact a private right of way in the center of a public street made the improvement of that street by any legal process impossible. The Vrooman act requires that street improvements must be paid for by realty owners whose property receives the "benefits of the improvements." Mr. Baker claimed that the railroad is one of such parties, that its property is improved with the rest and therefore should be assessed in common with the holdings of others interested. This contention was disputed by Mr. Sherer in his reply, as he said it was no easier for the railroad to carry on its business nor did the improvement enable it to do it any more economically. Mr. Sherer read the decisions of courts in this and other states, which although not fully covering the question, seemed to sustain his idea. It had been held in one of these decisions that "the land burdened by a public easement is not benefited by such improvement." The only true test as to benefit is the effect on the market value of the property affected. In one case a contractor endeavored to secure the sale of bonds covering a similar right of way, and the treasurer was enjoined from paying the bonds.

The courts seem to have fought shy of giving decisions on the particular point involved in this case, so that there is still ample room for differences of opinion in regard to it, between lawyers as well as laymen. The board adjourned without action, the trustees wishing to be further enlightened as to the legal intricacies of the case, into which the city attorney will delve during the next week, probably reporting on the subject at next Wednesday's meeting.

HOLD-UP—ONE OF THE THUGS CAPTURED.

Last Saturday evening between four and five o'clock, Mike Carrig was held up and badly beaten by two men whom he met near the railroad track in West Glendale. Mike had been to the winery and having a bottle of the refreshing liquid with him, made the acquaintance of the two men whom he met and treated them to wine. A short time afterwards a boy who had been out rabbit hunting near-by, rushed into the West Glendale store and told the bystanders that a man was being killed by a couple of men nearby. Mr. Sam Alexander, who happened to be present, borrowed the boy's gun and rushed to the scene of the trouble. He found the victim of the attack badly beaten up and the two assailants running away towards the river. Gaining on them he commanded them to halt and one of them obeyed and was captured by Alexander. He proved to be a youth of about twenty who gave the name of George Nickel. Carrig was badly beaten up and was taken to Dr. Thompson, of Burbank for treatment. Nickel came up before Judge Melrose at Tropic on Wednesday and was held to answer in Superior Court. It is thought that the worst offender escaped. There have been two or three similar attacks made in the neighborhood of Los Feliz and the Hollywood country recently upon different individuals, and in one case the victim is expected to die. It is hoped that the prisoner caught so valiantly by Mr. Alexander may be one of the perpetrators of these outrages.

SUICIDE—BODY FOUND IN RESERVOIR.

Last Sunday morning the body of Lorenzo Colino, an Italian, about 45 years of age, was found in a reservoir on the Phillips (?) ranch, North Glendale. Mr. Pulliam, of the Pulliam Undertaking company, was sent for, who took charge of the body. Colino had been missing from his home for about twenty-four hours and when last seen by his family was in condition of excitement and fear in which he imagined that his life was in danger. Some time later he attempted to borrow a gun from a friend to defend himself from his imaginary enemies, and when he disappeared it was evident to his friends that he had met with some serious trouble. From the fact that the body was floating when found although it could not have been in the water more than twenty-four hours, it was thought possible that life was the victim of foul play. Dr. Campbell, who performed the autopsy, however, at the inquest, testified that the indications were that the deceased had committed suicide while laboring under an attack of temporary insanity brought about by excessive wine drinking, the exit of air from the lungs being prevented by a spasm which probably occurred at the instant that the body entered the water.

GLENDALE-EAGLE ROCK RAILWAY.

The first car did not run over this track on Thursday as per schedule, but that important event is only delayed for a few days. Mr. Goode informs us that while it might be possible to run a car over the track by this afternoon, it is thought best to have the track in first-class shape first, and this will take a few days work yet. Announcement of the actual completion of the road will no doubt be made in our next issue.

There was a peanut social Tuesday evening last at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Shropshire, given in the interest of the Y. P. C. E. of the Christian church. The entertainment was unique and proved a mirth-provoking time killer, enjoyed by all present.

The editor of this paper had the pleasure of meeting the other day, Mr. Isaac P. Baldwin, of Manassas, Va., who is stopping at the Sanitarium. Mr. Baldwin is eighty years of age, but apparently vigorous. He is the owner of the property on which the battle of Manassas was fought during the civil war, owning the identical site of the rebel fort. During the war he was much of the time in Washington, saw much of President Lincoln and the members of his cabinet and is a perfect encyclopedia of interesting reminiscences and information in regard to that most interesting period of the nation's history.

During March 4th, eighteen old-time Iowa friends, mostly Eastern Stars and eight of whom are past worthy matrons, spent the day at "The Pines," the home of A. L. Smith. After dinner, which was served out of doors in the "glorious sunshine," and enjoying a social hour, the gentlemen visited the packing houses and fruit ranches, while the ladies wandered up the canyon, gathering wild flowers, climbing "Woodberry" point, taking in the lovely views from there of Glendale, Burbank and many other points. They all joined in saying they would not have spent the day in that manner in Old Iowa on the fourth of March.

IMPROVEMENTS ON WOLLACOTT STREET.

The readiness with which home builders will avail themselves of a chance to get a good lot on reasonable terms and agree to build a home thereon, is shown in the success of Mr. L. C. Brand's experiment on Wollacott street, west of Central. About six months ago lots on both sides of the street in this block were put on the market on extremely easy terms for the buyer, but the building restriction was fixed at $1500. The result is shown today in a half dozen modern houses, attractive in architecture and yet without sameness, that have been erected during that time and all occupying except one which will have a tenant soon. One or two other lots have been sold and the conditions require that building shall begin within one month. Among the home makers there are Messrs. Collins, Kilgore, Chandler and Keyes. The street has been asphalted and sidewalked and altogether it promises to be one of the most attractive blocks in that section.

The Burbank board of trade met on Monday evening at the office of the Review. It was decided to wait until after the good roads are built before incorporating. TO THE PUBLIC.

I have repeatedly been asked if the electric railroad from the terminus of the Glendale line will be built. For the benefit of those who are thinking of investing on account of the increased value that this road will add to the adjoining territory, I will say, if you invest now you are taking desperate chances. One thing is certain. The road will not be built except the bonus is entirely subscribed and the right of way secured. Let it be remembered it is the last brick that finishes the wall, not the first one.

J. C. OESTERGARD.

Promoter of Bonus and Right of Way.

GLENDAL, CAL., MARCH 6, 1909

We have received a copy of "The Laconic," a new venture in the newspaper world, published at Lankershim. It starts out with a fair list of advertising patronage and is a neat appearing publication filled with a good assortment of local matter that should appeal to the section it represents. We wish it success.

OUR SCIENCE ARTICLES.

To those of our readers who may not have read our science articles heretofore, possibly in the belief that they are "dry as dust," productions, we seriously commend them. They will find in these papers, prepared especially for the NEWS, matter put in an agreeable form which is of great value to any one interested in the familiar facts of science, about which the most of us are wonderfully ignorant; and they will get from these brief articles in many instances more than they would secure by toiling through much more lengthy productions. "X-Ray" has the happy "multum in parvo" faculty which is comparatively rare among writers upon serious subjects.

Violet May Gordon Charlesworth, is the name of a remarkable young woman who has victimized bankers, brokers and innumerable tradespeople by a transparent story to the effect that she is a godchild of the illustrious Gen. Gordon, of London fame, who left her a tremendous legacy to be paid over when she should be twenty-five years of age. The fact that Gen. Gordon when he died took about all that he possessed with him, was a fact easily ascertainable, but it did not prevent the young adventuress from securing thousands of dollars from her dupes. She is said to have spent $200,000 a year and owed one broker $50,000 when her scheme was finally exposed. All of which goes to show that there is still a mesmeric influence in the bright eyes of the female woman and that the hard-hearted business man is not immune from attacks of foolishness.

TOLSTOI ON LINCOLN.

One of the finest tributes we have seen to the character of Lincoln is that one paid by Count Tolstoj, when among other things he says, "The greatness of Napoleon, Caesar or Washington is only moonlight by the sun of Lincoln." But one of the most interesting statements made by the great Russian as reported in an interview published by the New York World, is that in which Tolstoj throws light upon his own religious belief; he says, "I am convinced that we are but instruments in the hands of an unknown power and that we have to follow its bidding to the end. We have a certain apparent independence, according to our moral character, wherein we may benefit our fellows, but in all eternal and universal questions we follow blindly a divine predestination." From John Calvin to Tolstoj is a long step of three and a half centuries, but they seem not so far apart in doctrine. Much more in the same interview is temptingly quotable the following, while by no means original, has rarely if ever, had a more simple and concise expression, "However, the highest heroism is that which is based on humanity, truth, justice and pity; all other forms are doomed to forgetfulness. The greatness of Aristotle or Kant is insignificant compared with the greatness of Buddha, Moses and Christ."

CLEAN UP THE SIDEWALKS.

Green grass is a fine thing in many places, delightfully restful to the eye in fact, but then green grass should be confined to its proper place. It is out of place on a public sidewalk and its presence there should be discouraged. Nature has been lavish in dispensing rain and warm sunshine recently, but nature should not be allowed to have everything her own way. Green grass on hillside and valley is a thing of beauty and a joy for a season, but green grass on our sidewalks is an abomination, or soon will be, for it will not always be green. There is scarcely a block in Glendale where the grass and weeds have not been permitted to encroach to some extent upon our concrete sidewalks, and this does not speak well for our vaunted spirit of enterprise. Every vacant lot is beginning to make a nuisance of itself about this season and the vegetation on it needs to be suppressed when it attempts to crawl over the sidewalk. The property of non-residents is not alone subject to this encroachment. It is now the proper season to eradicate weeds and keep in subjection unruly grasses, and our resident lot owners can put in their leisure moments no more profitably than in taking some lusty exercise with shovel, hoe and rake. Soon the summer will be upon us and the green verdure which now is not displeasing to the eye even if on the sidewalk, will soon be in the sere and yellow leaf and become a public nuisance. Property owners get busy!

GOOD ROADS AND MORE OF THEM.

The surveyors in the employ of the good roads commission, began work this week on a number of routes to be improved by that commission out of the $3,500,000 bond issue. One of the first on their list is the Verdugo Canyon road connecting Glendale with La Crescenta and La Canada. Surveying has also been done on the Eagle Rock road that will tap Glendale's eastern limits at Sixth street. It devolves upon the city to provide roads within the corporate limits that will be equal in every respect to the highways in which they are connecting links. It is a work of considerable difficulty to do this. Property owners as a rule are selfish creatures because they happen to be human, and it is difficult to induce them to see that liberality in the giving of land for road purposes, is really an enlightened selfishness which will redound to their benefit even more than to that of the community. There is no question but that this splendid system of highways will add greatly to the market value of all property along their route. No property owner can afford to stand out for any unreasonable concessions. The process of condemnation will have to be invoked as a last resort and when that is done the property owner is likely to be disappointed in the results. Not only to meet these new county roads must we soon exert ourselves, but streets should be put through our city in other places. A road north and south along the Childs tract line is imperatively needed and we hope its opening will not be long delayed.

Our fine streets are one of our most valuable assets; in fact, they have done more to call favorable attention to our young city than any other artificial feature of attractiveness that we possess. We must not only continue to improve the condition of those we have, but others must be added to them. We hope to see condemnation proceedings begun by the city in one or two cases in a short time, believing that the tangible and moral results will be good.

THE FIRST MONDAY IN MARCH.

How many good citizens, generally speaking, went to work systematically on Monday last to lay the foundation for the successful commission of the crime of perjury? The very evident answer to this conundrum is that "the Lord only knows." It is perfectly in accordance with the facts to assume that more than one good churchman who would piously refrain from the "sin" of dancing during the Lenten season just beginning, would lie him to the banking institution where his money was deposited on that day, before the hour of noon, give a check upon his account for the full amount due him, take a cashier's check in exchange for the same, and then tucked this evidence of wealth snugly tucked away into his vest pocket, make solemn oath to the assessor that he had neither money in bank nor "in hand!"

We would not imply by this statement that the crime is committed by church men only—on the contrary, quite the reverse, for it is probable that only a small minority of them do it, but it is citizens of all classes and conditions who do this thing so habitually that it is easily condoned by many who should be ashamed to excuse it. The railroads and the government are two common victims of prevalent dishonesty; and the evasion of the payment of taxes by easy methods of lying, is one of the most common forms of temptation that otherwise respectable citizens yield to about this time of year. What with the exemption of United States notes, government bonds, etc., from taxation, our laws upon the subject seem framed for the express purpose of favoring the tax dodger. Not one-tenth of the money deposited in our banking institutions, is acknowledged by the owners on the first Monday in March. Some day possibly, we shall find a constitutional method by which deposits in banks will be taxed and the tax paid by the institution in bulk, to be charged back to depositors in proportion as their interest appears. Meanwhile the honest tax payers will continue to bear the burden imposed upon them by the limitation of their non-elastic consciences and the easy morals of their neighbors.

THE PASSING OF ROOSEVELT.

High noon on the 4th of March, 1909, marked the end of an era in the political history of the United States. Just what was accomplished during that era, or what its effect upon this country and the world at large, is a matter that can only be determined some time in the future, and we can readily imagine that the subject will be a fruitful one for debate among historians who are not yet born.

But one thing is sure; there will be no question among the writers of the history of this time as to who was the most prominent figure of the period that ended when Theodore Roosevelt stepped down into private life on Thursday last. His remarkable personality is stamped upon our times as indelibly as is in the nature of mortal affairs possible. Looking over his career as president, we are reminded of that remark by Cassius made, "Why man he doth bestride this narrow world like a Colossus," and we wonder whether Caesar really was such a great man after all—compared with Roosevelt!

One of the greatest triumphs of the retiring president was his success in naming his successor. It is not an easy thing to make a president of the United States. This is a republic in fact as well as in name, and the people do elect their own presidents; for however careless they may be, and easily misled in regard to public officials generally, yet they do exert themselves once in four years and decide who shall occupy the white house for the next term. The people elected Wm. H. Taft to the high office of president, but there was a power behind the people, a power that shaped their thoughts, made the altogether impressive personage of Mr. Taft look good to them and impelled them to elect him—and that power was Theodore Roosevelt. It was a splendid triumph, and it was fortunate that the power was beneficent for it providentially happened that the people could do no better than carry out its purpose. Down from his high station stepped Theodore Roosevelt on Thursday last into the honorable ranks of private citizenship; it is impossible that he should occupy hereafter such a prominent position before the eyes of the world, as he has filled for the last seven years; but it is a safe prophecy that if his life should be spared he will still be a vital force in the affairs of the world. He is the incarnation of the energy of the twentieth century; he has not the one talent only, but a hundred, and anywhere in the world field of usefulness he may break out in a sudden burst of splendid accomplishment. Other presidents, not many, however, are written down in history associated with one or two great things accomplished during their incumbency of the office, but Theodore Roosevelt has placed to his credit a longer list of useful achievements than can be associated with any other president of the United States since we first began to make a place for ourselves among the nations.

OUR PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.

Drop in some day and see samples of the job work we turn out of the home office. The "Stylus," published by the High School pupils, is done here. Those new neat folders of the Overton Realty Co. are turned out at this shop. Our ball programs and the neat programs furnished at the best entertainments are printed by us. We printed the Year Book of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, also their by-laws. The personal cards of some of our prominent society people and the business cards of many of our professional men and merchants are printed in the office of the GLENDAL NEWS. We print tags, posters, dodgers, and in fact, everything in the printing line. Don't lug your work off to Los Angeles nor give it to anybody else than your own home shop—not because we desire you to do this of course, but because it costs you nothing extra to patronize the home establishment. Our prices are as low as any other concern will do good work for. If you doubt it, call on us and be convinced.

By the way, we are located on Glendale avenue; the number is 343, of the door, and we have both phones.

QUESTIONABLE SIZES.

The happiest social affair in church circles the past week was undoubtedly the sock social on Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ehnery of Fifth street, attended by about seventy-five identified with First Methodist church. The rooms were bright with light and color and many blossoms contributed largely to the beauty of the setting. Five musical numbers were furnished by the unabashed phonograph and Mr. Arthur Johnson of Nome, Alaska, who is wintering with Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Fourth and Everett streets. Miss Shropshire convulsed her audience with laughter when she very appropriately read "Mrs. Tubbs at the Sewing Circle." This called for an encore, which was given. Refreshments were dainty sandwiches, delectable doughnuts and fragrant coffee, which disappeared like frost in California sunshine.

ODD FELLOWS' ENTERTAIN.

Occasionally the Odd Fellows like for their own use their fine new and much overworked hall, and plans for Wednesday last culminated in a fine entertainment provided for their guests, the Rebekahs. For refreshment, fresh fruit and punch found favor, and last, but not least, and of course, the dance on the fine floor claimed enthusiastic attention.

AT SACRAMENTO.

Legislative Session Nearing Its End.

Speaker Stanton says that the legislature will adjourn on March 20th. Stanton has driven things through the house at a pretty good gait so that its business is in better shape than is usual at the end of the eighth week; but there are still several hundred bills on the assembly files to be acted on and not many less in the senate. The most important measure probably that has received the governor's signature, is the Leavitt bank bill which will go into effect June 1st, next. One of its most important provisions is that for the appointment of a superintendent of banking at a yearly salary of $10,000. This official will have the appointment of the force that will work under him and the position is the most desirable that this legislature has created. No one seems as yet to be prominently mentioned for the place.

The "Frats" bill passed the house by a big majority. Drew opposed it, expressing the opinion that the "Kid" fraternities are beneficial than otherwise, but Johnson and others who do not believe in allowing pupils to run the schools, had things their own way. There was a warm debate in the senate when a motion was made to send the local option bill back to committee. Curtin, who is looked up to as an authority on matters of law, declared that it was unconstitutional; Estudillo of Riverside, expressing vigorously a contrary opinion. Martinelli made an able argument to prove its unconstitutionality, based on the idea as expressed in the organic law that "legislative power shall be vested in a senate and assembly," claiming that the people have no right to usurp this function, but must act through their representatives. The measure was returned to committee for amendment by a vote of 20 to 15.

The bill embodying the initiative feature of legislation, has been favorably reported by the senate committee and stands a good show for passage. The direct primary bill is to come up for a third reading this week. Los Angeles members want it amended by making the nomination of U. S. senator by districts rather than at large by the state. There is a possibility of a deadlock over this proposition. There is some interesting gossip in regard to the "Wright-Stanton" bill. It is said that neither Senator Wright nor Speaker Stanton had anything to do with the preparation of the bill which is to be adorned by their hyphenated name. But the powers that be who are making the political slate, have ordained that these two eminent politicians will need in their business the prestige which this great reform measure will convey. And their business is to secure high office, the one the position of governor and the other that of United States senator. Wright, who hails from San Diego, is attorney for J. D. Spreckles and is said to have been selected by that public-spirited citizen as his candidate for the toga, knowing that he cannot get it for himself. They don't seem to have put Frank Flint into the combination! The Democrats pretend to believe that they are going to carry the state when they again get a chance to vote. Their candidate for governor will probably be Sanford, of Mendocino, while they will allow the south to have the senator, who has not yet been selected, although Isidore Dockweiler may be his name! The bill authorizing the consolidation of San Pedro and Los Angeles, when a majority of the electors of both cities vote in favor of it, practically passed the senate on Tuesday, when the various amendments offered by Savage were voted down by a vote of 25 to 13.

ROQUE.

An institution of which the average citizen of Glendale probably knows very little, and one affording a great deal of pleasure to the few having a knowledge of its presence, and the privilege of participating in its benefits, has recently been established in our little suburban city. It is the game known throughout the United States as "Roque." A "Roque court" proper is a ground 60 feet in length by 30 feet in breadth, fitted up with the accuracy and precision of a billiard table, with rubber cushions or buffers on the four sides, on which the game, sometimes called "outdoor billiards," is played. The word "roque" is taken out of the word "croquet," and the game itself is no more nor less than the latter game when reduced to a science.

A roque court has been fitted up at considerable expense by Mr. David Filger, near the Petersen residence on Adams street, for the entertainment of such of his friends as have a knowledge of the game, or who desire to learn, and on Tuesday of the present week a party of skilled performers from Los Angeles spent the day at the Filger court; at which time "Roque" in its highest sense was played and enjoyed, not only by the performers themselves, but by a large gathering of delighted spectators.

Messrs. Greenell, West and Spalding champion roque players of Southern California, were the visiting trio. All visitors are welcome at the court where the uninitiated are instructed in the mysteries of the game, and where Mr. Filger will take delight in wearing to a "frazee" any who may consider themselves already proficient.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Officers were installed with military precision and eclat on Wednesday night, when thirty-five members of Pico Heights Lodge visited Carnation Rebekah lodge and a well-drilled team of twenty put the new officers through with creditable dispatch. The pictures formed were unusually pretty and won compliment and applause. The social hour was thoroughly pleasant in every way. The noble grand, Mrs. John Prosser, and past grand, Mrs. Cornelia Davis, were guests of Mrs. Jos. Shropshire, their former neighbor in Pico Heights.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Notes on Comets, By R. A. Proctor, the Noted English Astronomer, Transscribed for the News by X-RAY.

Elsewhere in the solar system we meet with relations not differing greatly in kind from those presented by our own earth. We see a set of globular bodies revolving around the sun in nearly circular orbits, nearly in one plane, and all in the same direction; we find that these globes rotate upon their axis—still in the same direction; and many of them are attended by bodies resembling our own moon. Here and there—as in the zone of asteroids, and the rings of Saturn—we meet with novelty of arrangement or configuration; but even then we find a stability, either of figure or motion, which renders such objects comparable, so to speak, with those we are accustomed to.

But with comets the case is wholly different. When we have said that these objects obey the law of gravity, we have mentioned the only circumstance—as it would appear—in which they conform to the relations observed in terrestrial and planetary arrangements. And even this law—the widest yet revealed to man—they seem to obey half unwillingly. We see the head of a comet tracing out systematically enough its proper orbit, while the comet's tail is all unruly and disobedient.

The paths followed by comets show no resemblance, either to planetary orbits or to each other. Here we see a comet travelling in a path of moderate extent and not very eccentric, there another which rushes from a distance of two or three thousand millions of miles, approaches the sun with ever-increasing velocity until nearer to him than parts of his own corona, sweeps around him with inconceivable rapidity, and makes off again to where the aphelion of its orbit lies, far out in space beyond the most distant known planet, Neptune. Some comets travel in a direct, others in a retrograde, path, a few near the plane of the earth's orbit, many in planes showing every variety of inclination. Some comets regularly return after intervals of a few years; others are seen only once or twice, and then unaccountably vanish, and not a few show by the paths they follow that they have come from interstellar space to pay a visit to our system, passing out again, to traverse we know not what other systems or regions.

The name "comet" is derived from the word coma, or hair, and is applied to these objects because they appear to have a hairy appendage—modern astronomers do not, indeed, use the word coma in this sense, but draw a distinction between the coma and the tail. There can be no doubt, however, that the part now called the comet's tail was that from which these objects derived their name. It might be supposed that the hairy, broom-like, or tail-like appendage, so commonly seen in comets, is really a distinctive feature of these bodies. This, however, is far from being the case. A very large number of comets have no visible tails. We refer, of course, principally to telescopic comets, for very few comets which have been conspicuous to the naked eye have wanted this appendage.

The coma—in the modern astronomical sense—is never wanting. This term is applied to a misty, hazy light, surrounding, on every side, a small bright spot, which is termed the nucleus of the comet.

When first seen in the telescope, a comet usually presents a small round disc of hazy light, somewhat brighter near the center. As the comet approaches the sun the disc lengthens, and, if it is to be a tailed one, traces begin to be seen of streakiness in the comet's light. Gradually a tail is formed, which is turned always from the sun. The tail grows brighter and longer, and the head develops into a coma surrounding a distinctly marked nucleus. Presently the comet is lost to view in the sun's light. But after awhile it emerges, sometimes wonderfully, changed in aspect. Some comets are brighter and more striking after making their perihelion passages, or nearest approach to the sun, than before, while others are quite shorn of their splendor when they reappear.

As a comet approaches the sun we have seen that a change takes place in the appearance of the nucleus, and that in some cases a tail is generated. The process actually observed is generally this: in the forward part of the nucleus a turbulent action is seen to be in progress, leading to the propulsion, towards the sun, of jets or streams of misty-looking matter. Sometimes a regular cap or envelope is seen to be projected in this manner towards the sun, or even a set of envelopes one within the other. The matter thus thrown off is not permitted to pass far from the nucleus toward the sun, but is swept away, as fast as formed, in the opposite direction. If the funnel of a steam engine were directed forwards, instead of upwards, then the appearance presented by the emitted steam, as the engine rushed on—let us suppose against a hurricane—would exemplify the process which seems to be taking place, around the front of the nucleus, and far behind it, as the matter formed is continually swept away from the sun. The same sun which attracts the nucleus seems to repel the emitted matter with inconceivable energy. Consider for a moment what took place with Newton's comet in 1680-81. When this comet was about as far off from the sun as our earth (ninety million miles) it began to throw out a tail. But the comet was going far nearer to the sun than this. Onward it rushed under the powerful influence of the sun's attraction till it had crossed the whole space of ninety million miles, making, almost in a straight line, for a point only one hundred and thirty thousand miles from the sun's surface. In four weeks it traversed that vast distance, and then suddenly (in a few hours) sweeping half round the sun, started on its return journey. But note this: as it approached the sun the comet had thrown out a tail continually increasing in length, and pointing backward almost along its orbit; then the comet is lost to view for a few days, and when it is next seen returning rapidly from the sun, it has its tail pointing forward and ninety million miles in length! But, as Herschell said, "this must have been a different tail, for we cannot conceive a comet's tail to be brandished like a stick." So that, whereas the comet, already moving with a tremendous acquired velocity, had taken four weeks in traversing a distance of ninety million miles under the sun's attraction, the matter composing the tail had been thrown to the same enormous distance by the sun's repulsion in scarcely one-tenth part of the time, possibly in a few hours—for the tail was already formed when first seen at its reappearance after passing the sun.

The comet of 1843 was yet more remarkable for the dimensions of its tail and for its close approach to the sun. The tail of this comet stretched halfway across the sky in March, 1843. Its real length was two hundred million miles at least, for the end of the tail was lost to view through the excessive faintness of its light. So near did this comet pass to the sun, that many astronomers did not expect to see it again. After, however, all but grazing the sun—sweeping round him at a distance of less than one-tenth of his diameter, the comet escaped and passed back again into space.

When we see the tail of a comet occupying a volume thousands of times greater than that of the sun itself, the question naturally suggested is, "how is it that so vast a body can sweep through the solar system without deranging every member of it? Conceding even extreme tenuity to the substance composing so extended a volume, one would still expect its total mass to be tremendous. For instance, suppose the tail of the comet of 1843 to consist of hydrogen, the lightest substance known to us, even then the mass of the tail would largely exceed that of the sun. Every planet would have been dragged from its path by the proximity of such a mass. We know, on the contrary, that no such effects are produced. We are therefore compelled to admit that the actual substance of comets is inconceivably rare. A jar full of common air would probably have outweighed hundreds of that vast appendage which blazed across our skies, to the terror of the ignorant and superstitious. These considerations have doubtless diminished the dread of possible evils which might result if the earth encountered a comet. But the feeling may still remain that influences other than those due to mere weight or mass, might be exerted on terrestrial races in the course of such an encounter. The subtle breath of some mephitic vapor might penetrate our atmosphere and if it did not bring immediate destruction might leave dire forms of plague and pestilence to work their evil upon the human race. The positive knowledge, however, which we now possess does not favor the supposition that does. At any rate, of a comet, is likely to exercise any such destructive effects. And it is only the tails of comets that we have much chance of meeting. In fact, there is reason to suppose that the earth did actually pass through the tail of the great comet of 1861. At about the hour calculated for the contact to take place, a strange auroral glare was seen in the sky, but beyond this, no effect was perceptible.

"1892" Pure Aluminum Ware

Will Not Rust, Crack,

Break, Scorch or Burn

Cheapest Because Best

Will Last a Lifetime

HERE, at last, is the ideal kitchen and cooking utensil—"THE WARE THAT WEARS"—made from Pure Spun Aluminum, and guaranteed by the makers to last 25 years with average usage. "Spun" Aluminum, mind you, not cast Aluminum, which will sometimes crack and scale. Spun Aluminum Ware will never crack, peel, scale or brak.

Costs a trifle more than ordinary enamel ware, but is many times cheaper in the long run, because of its wonderful durability and fuel saving. Enamel ware is iron coated with colored glass. Iron expands with heat. Colored glass does not, but chips off into the food with dangerous results to those who eat it.

That the use of enamel kitchen ware causes cancer is a view held by some eminent medical authorities. Dr. William H. Diefenbach of New York, in a paper entitled "Observations on the Etiology of Cancer," read before the Bureau of Sanitary Science and Public Health during the session of the International Homeopathic Congress at Atlantic City, discussed this subject.

According to a special dispatch to the Philadelphia North American, Dr. Diefenbach advanced the argument that chipping of the hard-coated dishes used in preparation of meals allowed minute but dangerous particles of foreign matter to become mixed with the food, these being taken into the stomach, where the cancerous growth is caused by abrasions which they make in the walls of the organ.

"1892" Pure Aluminum Ware saves doctors' bills. It enables you to bake bread, pies, pan cakes, etc., without grease, which is the great cause of dyspepsia and indigestion. Aluminum griddles require no grease; hence are smokeless and odorless.

"1892" Pure Aluminum Ware will not scorch or burn, is easily cleaned, will not rust, or corrode. Handsome in appearance. Looks like silver, but weighs only about one-fourth as much, and is light and convenient to handle.

The original and only genuine Spun Aluminum Ware is made by the Illinois Pure Aluminum Co. at Lemont, Ill. Every piece bearing their trade-mark, the Maltese Cross, and marked "1892" Pure Aluminum Ware is absolutely pure, wholesome and hygienic, and guaranteed for 25 years.

See that you get the right goods and accept no substitute.

THE CALIFORNIA PROMOTION COMMITTEE REPORT.

February 28, 1909.

February was marked with heavy rainfall in the valleys and much snow in the mountains, thus insuring an abundance of water for the crops during the year. According to opinions of deciduous fruit growers there will be heavy crops of apricots and peaches and with prevalence of good weather the cherry crop will be above the average.

Reports received by the California Promotion committee from its Eastern bureau and other affiliations through the country and Europe indicate a heavy colonial travel during the spring season, beginning March 1. Special inquiry points to many colonists coming to locate on small farms.

Improved business conditions are reported from all parts of California, with unusual demand from Eastern and foreign investors for state, municipal and industrial bonds and other California securities.

California as an all year around resort is becoming better understood and travel of pleasure seekers to the state during the year gives promise of a great increase. Arrangements are being made to have it possible for holders of tickets from Eastern and middle Western points to the Alaska-Yukon Exposition to come or return by way of California, thus bringing many people to the state who otherwise would take direct routes.

Address: The California Promotion Committee, San Francisco.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The High School entertainment is to take place March 12th and will be given in the K. of P. hall. The work is to be done entirely by the High School students.

The final game in the championship series for the basketball championship of Southern California will take place Saturday afternoon, either on the Occidental or U. S. C. court, between Polytechnic High School and Glendale. Both teams are confident of winning. If the tickets are purchased for the game through local students our school secures a 20 per cent. commission.

The High School pupils just now are endeavoring to locate the flag presented to them by Mr. L. C. Brand, a year ago, which has mysteriously disappeared. Any one who encounters it will please notify the school.

The physical geography and drawing classes chartered a Pacific Electric car Tuesday last and made a visit to San Pedro. The day was pleasantly and profitably spent in studying the rock formations and in sketching.

The senior class has challenged the other classes to a track meet, soon to occur.

The February "Stylus" is out and is being appreciatively received.

The Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church will meet in the church parlors, Thursday, March 11, at 2 p. m.

HOME TALENT DELIGHTS.

The Lomita Dramatic club presented the "Count of No Account" to a full house, Monday night, at the Knights of Pythias hall, Brand boulevard. Miss Edna Valentine and Miss Lucile Pittman were at their usual best, and Miss Evalena Ayers and Lorraine Mitchell gave their lines as though experience had been considerable. Dick McCann as a disreputable tramp and count of no account, was great. Others in the cast did favorable work and no one wanted their money back. The cast read: French maid, Edna Valentine; Jessie Long, Lorraine Mitchell; Bessie Long, Lucile Pittman; Mrs. Gridley, Evalena Ayers; Mr. Long, Dan Kelly; the tramp, Dick McCann; the real count, Mr. Goodwin; sheriff, Mr. Perkins; Mr. Kramer, Innkeeper, Mr. Klumb.

After the creditable performance the inevitable happened. Chairs were cleared away, musicians produced and there was a "dance afterward," which peaked the enjoyment of the evening, as the floor is generally conceded to be the best in the valley, as it is the largest.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The annual meeting for the Ladies' Aid society of First Presbyterian church was held on Tuesday afternoon, March 2d, at "The Bugle-O," on Cedar street. Mrs. Mary V. Colburn acted as hostess. There was a splendid attendance; regular business was quickly disposed of. Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: for president, Mrs. Thomas Ogg; vice president, Mrs. Sinclair; secretary, Mrs. Frank Albright; treasurer, Miss Rachel Sherer. Beautiful bouquets of carnations and ferns were presented to two of the retiring officers, all of whom were accorded a rising vote of thanks for good and efficient service during tenure of office. Bright little speeches were made by Mrs. A. D. McCoy, retiring president, and Mrs. Thos. Ogg, present incumbent. The yearly report of the treasurer, Mrs. S. Galloway, proved the society in excellent financial condition. Sewing and the serving of light refreshments filled the closing hours of the afternoon. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Colvin.

WOODBURY RECEPTION.

The Woodbury Business college held its annual mid-winter reception Friday evening, February 26th, in its new quarters, fifth floor of the Hamburger building, Los Angeles. The rooms were profusely decorated in acacia blossoms. The first part of the program consisted of orchestral and vocal music. Miss Helen Brown and Miss Fisher, two accomplished vocalists from the East being on the program. Mrs. Frances Kind Headlee delivered her stereopticon lecture on Yosemite. She also gave a series of Hawaiian picture views accompanied by delightful singing by a number of native Hawaiians. The second part of the evening was devoted to dancing.

Ladies interested in the Methodist Episcopal Aid society met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Bishop Belmont street, the pretty day calling out an attendance of twenty-five members. Work was planned and committees appointed to carry it to success. "Patches" proved a lively topic after the usual business session, and it is expected a generous amount of them will be turned in at the next meeting, for bix's fingers to fashion into good, old-fashioned quilts which in turn will win money for the treasury. A large attendance is urged for the next meeting.

Miss Eva Newell of Des Moines, Ia., who has been the house guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan, left for a brief visit at Santa Ana.

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church of this place held their regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. John Hobbs, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Helen Charlton Marsh of Galesburg, Ill., who has been the guest of Mrs. John Hobbs, and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson is spending a few days in San Francisco.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the Union Bible class at G. A. R. hall every Tuesday evening. Poston Smale will be present at every meeting. Everybody invited.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley and daughter of Goldfield, Nev., were the guests of Mrs. Stanley's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Burch of "Twin Pines," on Park avenue, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Collins entertained with a charmingly appointed dinner party at their home on Brand boulevard, Tuesday evening, at which Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Richardson of Chicago, were the guests of honor.

Mrs. Anna Marie Johnson of San Francisco, worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, of the State, was the week end guest of Mrs. David H. Inler of "Palm Villa."

Mrs. Inler is worthy matron of Glen Eyrie chapter, O. E. S.

James P. Scott has sold his bungalow on Glendale avenue, to Charles Fishel, who has moved the house onto one of his lots, near the tile works. Mr. Scott will begin the erection of a handsome cottage on his property which will be occupied by Mr. Scott and his mother, who arrived from the East.

The Thursday Afternoon club was entertained by the president, Mrs. A. W. Collins, at her home, on Brand boulevard, Thursday. Mrs. L. C. Johnson of Los Angeles, chairman of the History and Landmarks club, of the Federated clubs, was present and gave an interesting talk.

Mrs. H. W. Myers entertained a number of friends at her home on Central avenue, last Friday. The friends spent the entire day and some time was given to walking about our streets and taking account of the many beautiful homes. Those who spent the day were Mrs. E. Merry of Bowling Green, Ohio; Mrs. M. Behl of Pasadena; Mrs. Whittier and Miss Ida Myers of Los Angeles.

The ladies of N. P. Banks W. R. C. are making extensive improvements on the G. A. R. building. A fine hardwood floor has been laid and when not in use for dancing, will be covered with tarpaulins. This preserving the floor and keeping it intact for lodge and social and entertainment purposes. Another improvement is a three-foot platform, six inches high, built around the room. A dance is to be given in the hall tonight.

Mr. Henry Hiteam, of West Winfield, N. Y., accompanied by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Hiteam, is visiting his nephew, G. W. Strobel of Brand Boulevard. Mr. Hiteam, who is the proprietor of a large tannery, is making a leisurely tour of Southern California and the west. He announces himself as highly pleased with Glendale and Tropic, considering it the most pleasing section he has thus far visited.

Miss Fannie Alma Marple of Tropic, presented "Jerusha Dow's Family Album" before the Paloma chapter of the Rebekahs of Los Angeles, Wednesday evening. The thirty-three characters of the album were members of the Rebekahs under whose auspices the entertainment was given. This entertainment necessitates a reading lasting over one hour which is all committed to memory. The affair was given in the I. O. O. F. hall in Los Angeles.

The committee on good roads of the Tropic Improvement Association made a trip over all the roads of this place last Sunday in Mr. Davenport's auto. The inspection showed that the Tropic roads in general are in a pretty fair condition. However, the committee agreed that several streets which are greater in need of care would be attended to in the near future. Satisfaction was expressed at the manner in which the new road overseer has graded and leveled a number of the streets and that he has cut Laurel street through from Central avenue to Brand boulevard.

At a meeting of the committee appointed by the improvement society to take up the matter of estimating the cost of placing sign posts at all intersections of streets, an estimate was prepared and has been handed to Supervisor Pridham. The members of the committee have talked with Mr. Pridham and that gentleman expressed himself as being willing to do anything within reason which is for the benefit of our little town. It was proposed that the cross streets, running east and west be numbered instead of continuing by their present name. The committee also talked this matter over with the supervisor and that gentleman is greatly in favor of it. A number of citizens also have expressed themselves as being in favor of this change in the street names.

LOOKING BRIGHT FOR BOULEVARD.

One day, early this week, the committee appointed to meet with the committee from the improvement association of Edendale, made a trip down to the river to see what could possibly be done toward extending the boulevard from this valley across the river and through Edendale into Los Angeles, by way of Lake Shore avenue. The conclusion reached by the committee has not yet been made public, but it is generally thought that there is some hope of this greatly-needed improvement being made. E. W. Richardson, who has complete charge of all the land lying along the boulevard from the Southern Pacific railroad to the river, again stated that if the people of the valley joined together and constructed a bridge across the river, he would open up the boulevard from the railroad to the river. It is generally understood that if the valley people manage the construction of the bridge across the river, the people of Edendale and Ivanhoe will see that the road on the other side of the river is improved and the boulevard cut through. Before the next regular meeting of the Tropic Improvement Association this committee will endeavor to meet with the committee from the Edendale association, so that at the next regular meeting of the local society they will be able to give a very interesting report of this matter. The next meeting of this association will be on the 15th of this month and it will be to the interest of every resident of Tropic to be present.

TROPICO METHODIST ITEMS.

By the Pastor.

What promises to be of special interest to the members and friends of the Methodist church, tomorrow evening, is the visit to the church of several members of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Southern California. The young men will arrive sufficiently early to take charge of the Epworth League service, where they will address the young people of the church. A prominent feature of this band will be the cornet soloist, who has a wide reputation for his artistic work. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

The Ladies' Aid society of this church held an all-day meeting in the church parlors, last Tuesday. The hours were spent sewing and quite a large amount of work was accomplished.

A social was given under the auspices of the local Epworth League, last Friday evening. The first part of the evening was taken with an interesting musical and literary program, after which a good social time was enjoyed in the parlor adjoining. Refreshments were served. No admission was charged to the event. The attendance was good.

A week from next Sunday morning, March 14th, the members of the Masonic order of the valley will attend the service in a body. An appropriate sermon will be preached by the pastor and there will be special music.

Carving Scissors.
"I thought I knew all about scissors," said the man. "I had seen tailors' scissors for cutting heavy cloth, dressmakers' scissors for cutting flimsy fabrics and lace and still other scissors for cutting paper, finger nails, grapevines, all kinds of metals and even for shearing sheep, but in spite of that wide knowledge of scissors I was puzzled when I saw the large, peculiarly shaped pair of scissors lying in the showcase.

"What are these scissors for?" I asked the clerk.

"Carving meat," he said. "With scissors of this kind carving becomes mere child's play."

"I never saw anybody use them," said I.

"Nobody does use them," said the clerk—that is, only a very few. In Europe carving scissors are popular because they cut right through meat, gristle, bone and all, but it takes a little practice to learn to manipulate the things, and nobody in this country has patience enough for that."—Exchange.

The Talking Pots.

"Yes, these pots of mine are all right," said the potter. "They don't talk, though."

"No pots do."

"Don't they? Look here."

He took from the shelf a strange, crude pot daubed yellow and blue that had the shape of a duck. He filled it with water; then he poured the water out again. "Quack, quack, quack," said the pot distinctly. Every gurgle was a distinct quack. "There's art for you," said the potter. "Every gurgle of that duck pot is a quack. Wonderful Aztec art! And I have an Aztec pig pot that grunts like a pig and a dog pot that barks like a dog. Wonderful chaps, those Aztec potter fellows! I wish I knew their secret. Imagine an Aztec banquet," he said after a pause. "Pots filled, you know, with wine. And every time you pour yourself a drink 'Quack' go the ducks, 'Bowwow' go the dogs. Regular pandemonium!"—New York Press.

The Light of the Firefly.

When man will attain the perfect vacuum, then the rude ether bluish of the electric light bulb will give forth many times more light, purified and heatless, soft and healing, as the light of the stars, penetrating as the sun. An examination of the firefly when emitting flames or light shows bodily movements that cannot be understood to mean anything else than vacuum producing. The lights are always seen in the vacuum sack on the back. Immediately before emitting light the insect will flatten the body, draw the legs in, droop the head, seemingly contracting in all directions; then with the relaxation come the flame and light. The bodies of the glowworm and firefly always are transparent when filled with flame. The blades of grass or other debris are seen plainly through the bodies. Here are cases of nature, dealing with X rays.—Chicago Tribune.

How Marshall Field Made Money.

In the early eighties, when the First National bank of Wallawalla was not as big as it is now, I pretty nearly had my breath taken away one day by a good looking stranger hailing from Chicago. He threw a letter of credit for $80,000 from a Chicago bank on my desk and quietly said, "Can you cash that?" I looked him over once or twice, made a quick estimate of all the loose cash I thought we could scrape up and said: "Yes. How do you want it?" He gave a smile, sat down and said, "I think I'll take it in land." In a month's time, as his authorized agent, I bought about 30,000 acres of cheap railroad land for my Chicago friend, taking the deeds in my name at his request, paying an average of $2.65 an acre. He cleared over $1,000,000 on this one deal. His name was Marshall Field.—Senator Ankeny's Reminiscences in Leslie's Weekly.

In Great Luck.

"I have been looking over my financial operations," said Mr. Easlog. "I must say they are more successful than usual."

"Have you been making large profits?"

"No. I don't expect anything like that."

"But you say you were successful?"

"Comparatively successful. During the month I have loaned money to five friends, and only three of them have quit speaking to me."—Washington Star.

The Editor's Sally.

City Editor—What do you mean by saying in this robbery story that "Brown was knocked down and relieved of a hundred dollars?" Were you ever robbed yourself? New Reporter—No, sir. City Editor—That accounts for it. If you'd been robbed you wouldn't describe the loss of a hundred dollars as a relief.—St. Louis Republic.

His Line of Study.

"My boy is undecided about what collegiate course to take."

"Um?"

"What would you advise?"

"That depends. Does he want to build up his back muscles or his mind?"—Kansas City Independent.

Cheaper.

Servant—Please, sir, missus wants you to send for the plumber, 'cos she's dropped her diamond ring down the bath pipe. Mr. Nuriche—Tell your mistress not to be ridiculous. I'll buy her another diamond ring!—London Mail.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

Philip and the Ethiopian—Acts viii: 26-40.

Golden Text—Ye search the Scriptures because ye think that in them ye have eternal life; and these are they which bear witness of me.—John v: 39.

Verse 26—When God directs us by circumstances or by a friend, or by an angel, is it just as much from God as though He spoke to us direct?

I do not know whether this angel was a devout man, or woman, or a mental picture, or a dream, or a spirit; but he, she or it, convinced Philip, that God wanted him to go south; now how did Philip know that the impression to go south was of God; and how may we know under similar circumstances? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

May any person who is not playing double with God, safely trust "the inward voice," to direct as to outward circumstances?

Verses 27, 28—Philip found that he had not come on a fool's errand; now is it not invariably so, that results of tomorrow, always justify the faith vision of today?

Seeing this Ethiopian was a man of exalted position in a foreign country, what was the significance of Philip being sent to him?

Verse 29—When Philip saw this man's chariot looming up in the distance, perhaps after days or weeks of waiting, with more or less doubt; he got the impression that this was his opportunity; now from whom did he get the impression?

With what sort of a voice did the Holy Spirit speak to Philip?

If we should learn that the Holy Spirit used the circumstances, and Philip's reasoning processes, his hope and his fears, as God's voice, would that be as really the voice of the Holy Spirit, as if words were spoken by God out of the clouds?

Is it always safe for us to do as the Holy Spirit tells us, as in this case?

Verse 30—Was this Ethiopian a devout man?

If a man devoutly searches the Scriptures, is he sure to find God?

If a man devoutly searches the book of nature, with a desire to obey her laws, is he sure to find God?

Verses 31-34—Where in the Bible is the passage which the Ethiopian was reading?

Is it always necessary, that some one should explain the Scriptures to us?

Can we understand the Scriptures or get the full import of any fact, without the aid of the Holy Spirit?

Why could not, or why did not, the Holy Spirit explain this Scripture to the Ethiopian direct?

As a matter of fact, was not the Holy Spirit guiding the Ethiopian as much as he was Philip?

Was Isaiah conscious when he wrote these words, that they applied to Jesus; or did he think that he was describing some other person or persons?

Did not the prophets, as other inspired men, often write more wisely than they knew?

Verses 35-38—Did this Ethiopian need "converting" the same as a wilful sinner, or did he, as a devout child of God, simply recognize Jesus as the sent of God, and was then baptized in his name?

Verses 39, 40—Was Philip, so to speak, "spirited" away, or did he leave in a natural manner?
